News from UKirk at VA Tech

In May, 12 students from Ukirk at VA Tech were supposed to go to the Arizona/Mexico Border with Frontera de Cristo, a Mission partnership with the PCUSA. And then the pandemic hit and we were not able to go. We have stayed in touch with Mark Adams (PCUSA Mission Co-worker) and the folks at Frontera de Cristo. When we discovered that they partner with a co-op called The Gloo Factory that makes custom face masks, we were all in to order masks for the fall for our ministry. We were so glad to be able to support this ministry. We will be excited to be wearing these and getting the word out on campus about UKirk.

Don't forget to send names and addresses of young adults from your churches who will be starting at VA Tech in August. Send information to Kathy Carpenter at olekack@gmail.com

Take a look at our masks:
